As a Learner:

As a learner, I want to easily navigate through the website so that I can find and enroll in courses efficiently.
- Acceptance Criteria:
    - The homepage should have clear navigation menus for courses, categories, and user profile.
    - The course search feature should return relevant results based on keywords and filters.
    - Enrolling in a course should be a straightforward process, with clear instructions.

As a learner, I want to receive notifications about upcoming classes, new course releases, and any important announcements.
- Acceptance Criteria:
    - Users should be able to opt-in or opt-out of different types of notifications.
    - Notifications should be sent via email or in-app, and the content should be concise and relevant.

As a learner, I want the option to track my progress, view completed modules, and see my overall performance in assessments.
- Acceptance Criteria:
    - The progress tracker should accurately reflect completed modules and overall course completion percentage.
    - Assessment results should be displayed immediately after completion, along with any relevant feedback.

As a learner, I want the ability to interact with instructors and fellow students through discussion forums, chat, or collaborative projects.
- Acceptance Criteria:
    - Discussion forums should be available for each course, allowing learners to post questions and participate in discussions.
    - Chat functionality should support real-time communication with instructors and peers.
    - Collaborative projects should have a user-friendly interface for group collaboration.

As a learner, I want to have a user-friendly interface for taking quizzes or exams, with immediate feedback on my performance.
- Acceptance Criteria:
    - The quiz interface should be intuitive and easy to navigate.
    - Immediate feedback should be provided for each question, indicating whether the answer was correct or incorrect.

- The final quiz score should be displayed along with any relevant explanations for correct or incorrect answers.

As an Instructor:

As an instructor, I want to easily create and upload course content, including videos, documents, and quizzes.
- Acceptance Criteria:
  - The content creation interface should be user-friendly and include options for uploading various file types.
  - Instructors should be able to organize course content into modules or sections.
  - The upload process should support large files and provide progress indicators.

As an instructor, I want to have tools to monitor and track the progress of my students, including their quiz scores and completion rates.
- Acceptance Criteria:
  - Instructors should have access to a dashboard displaying overall class progress, individual student progress, and quiz scores.
  - Drill-down capabilities should allow instructors to view detailed analytics for specific students or course modules.

As an instructor, I want to be able to communicate with students through announcements, discussion forums, and direct messaging.
- Acceptance Criteria:
  - Instructors should be able to post announcements visible to all students.
  - Discussion forums should allow instructors to participate in class discussions.
  - Direct messaging should be available for private communication with individual students.

As an instructor, I want the ability to create and manage assignments, projects, and assessments for my courses.
- Acceptance Criteria:
  - Instructors should be able to create different types of assessments, including quizzes, assignments, and projects.
  - The assignment creation interface should support detailed instructions, due dates, and file upload options.
  - Instructors should be able to review and grade student submissions.

As an instructor, I want an easy way to provide feedback on student submissions and answer their questions.
- Acceptance Criteria:

- Instructors should be able to provide written or audio feedback on assignments.
- A Q&A section should be available for students to ask questions, and instructors should receive notifications for new inquiries.